

DARING THIEVES MAKE RICH HAUL

Farmer Is Robbed of Over $400
by Clever Pickpockets in Broad Daylight.

OGDEN ALSO A VICTIM

BOLD TRIO "TOUCH" THREE MEN AT JUNCTION CITY.

Three clever pickpockets robbed Clarence Johnson, a young farmer from Glenwood, Sevier county, Utah, of $410 yesterday morning in front of the Utah Liquor company's saloon on Main street. In open defiance of the police, the three men committed the daring theft in broad daylight, and on the principal thoroughfare of the city. The robbery was discovered within a few moments, but by that time the robbers were nowhere to be found.

The men who committed the robbery are believed to be the same trio that stole $475 from a passenger on an Oregon Short Line train between Green River, Wyo., and Ogden, and who robbed three Ogden men Friday.

Robbed in Crowd.
Clarence Johnson, the victim of yesterday's robbery, sold a team at Salt Lake for $250, receiving a check in payment. He and his uncle, Henry Johnson, went to the National Bank of the Republic and cashed the check, receiving $250 in gold, which he had previous to the cashing of the check, he placed the money received from the bank in his overalls' pocket. He and his uncle then went half a block down the street to the saloon of the Utah Liquor company.

As they were about to enter the saloon, three men followed against them and prevented them from entering the doorway. The elder Johnson said to them, "Can't you let a man into this saloon?" At that the three men separated and the Johnsons went into the saloon. They ordered the drinks and as Clarence reached into his pocket where he had put the gold, he found that it was empty. He immediately suspected that the three men who jostled against him in the doorway had robbed him and he rushed from the saloon shouting that he had been robbed and searching for the thieves. The trio, however, had disappeared completely and no trace of the men could be found.

Trailed the Victim.
It is believed that the pickpockets watched the bank and saw Johnson draw the money and place it in his overalls' pocket. Then they shadowed the two men as they went down the street, and in the crowd that was done at the entrance to the saloon one of the trio deftly inserted his hand into the farmer's pocket and deftly removed the handful of gold pieces that constituted Johnson's all.

According to the police the men who are guilty of the clever theft are strangers in the city, having arrived but yesterday from Ogden. The police are convinced that they are the same ones who have been reaping a valuable harvest of money in Ogden and in the past few days. Yesterday the detective department of the Oregon Short Line was notified of the theft of $475 from one of the passengers as he was going to Ogden from Green River. It is thought that the man was robbed by this trio of pickpockets as he was leaving the train at Ogden.

Terrorized Ogden.
In a few hours Friday these pickpockets, who are believed to be among the cleverest in the west, created a short reign of terror by robbing three men on cars going from the Union depot in that city. The Ogden police yesterday morning said that as near as they could ascertain, the thieves waited in Ogden had left for Salt Lake and since the robbery of yesterday morning the police here are inclined to share their belief.

Johnson and his uncle are stopping at the Elly hotel and will remain in Salt Lake as long as there is any hope of recovering the stolen money or of running the culprits to earth.

HERALD SOLICITOR DIES.

W. R. Patten Falls a Victim to Pneumonia.

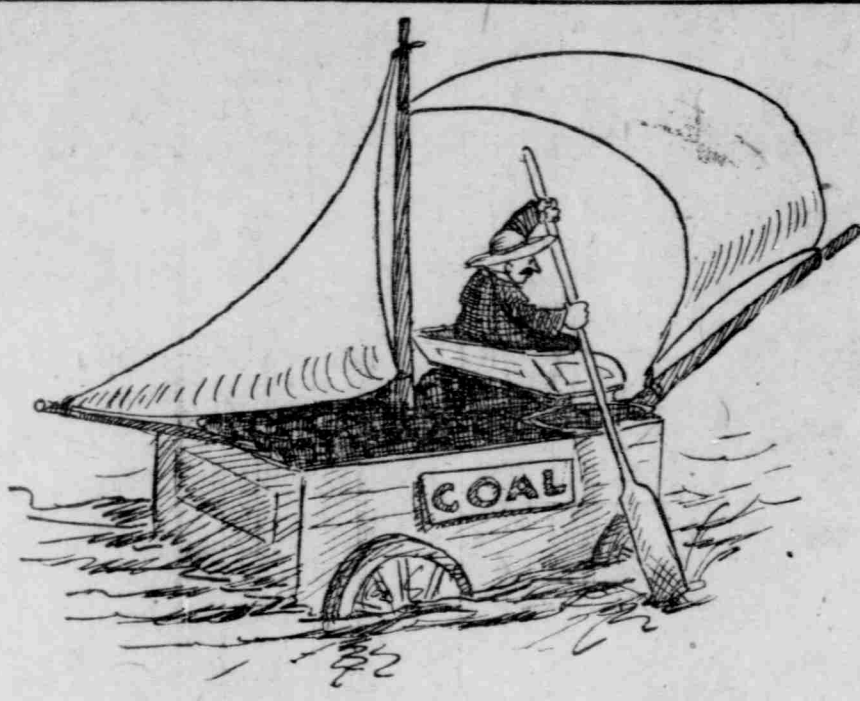

W. R. Patten, one of The Herald's subscription solicitors, died at St. Mark's hospital Saturday, of pneumonia. Mr. Patten was taken sick a week ago. He was 29 years old and had lived in Salt Lake for a number of years. He had been working for several of the local newspapers. He was considered the most able solicitor in the city. Relatives of the deceased who reside at El Paso, Tex., were notified by wire and sent instructions providing for burial in Salt Lake.

LABORING CRAFT IS STRANDED IN MUD

NAVIGATION OPENS IN STATE STREET.

Southbound and laden with a cargo of coal, the freighter Standfast, Captain Charles Hickenlooper, owned and operated by the Citizens Coal company, was aground off Cape Hewlett, lat. Eight South, long 1 East, in South State Street sound, and was wrecked yesterday.

The Standfast was of the double horsepower type and was regarded as staunch. It had battled for a long time against a heavy, sticky sea. The strain on its machinery became apparent before it neared the cape, and Captain Hickenlooper had all his signals of distress flying when the Standfast was sighted from the Hewlett light. Efforts to reach the laboring freighter were vain, and stay was soon apparent that it was to strike. It went against the headland to the east of the main channel, rebounded violently and began to settle by the bow. Ere it had time to sink, a last spasmodic effort of its disabled machinery drove it hard on the headland, where it stayed. Captain Hickenlooper and his brave crew escaped in safety. The captain communicated by wire with the owners at once and was instructed by them to lose no time in attempting to save the cargo and what was left of the freighter. He was back at the scene early in the afternoon with a lighter and removed the cargo of the Standfast as the wreck was left in the exposed position where it had been driven. It will be taken to the dry dock across the sound tomorrow.

Shouts Words of Cheer.
Crowds of excited citizens thronged the shores when the Standfast foundered, but they were unable to do more than shout words of advice and cheer to the heroic captain who remained at his post on the bridge until the freighter struck.

Reckless automobilists that undertook to get the Ormond beach sensation by skirting South State street came to grief yesterday after battling long against the Standfast. The wreck was left in the exposed position where it had been driven. It will be taken to the dry dock across the sound tomorrow.

Street cars navigate the street in comparative ease now. No car has been stalled in the mud for many hours. The material of the street shows a tendency toward rigidity along the sides of the car tracks, when proceedings ended. The automobile was abandoned there by all except the driver, the rescued ones returning to town on a street car.

GARBAGE SCHEME COMES TO GRIEF

Welby's Objections Upsets Plan to Utilize Sewage Farm as Dumping Ground.

BAMBERGER TAKES HAND

INCINERATING PLANT MAY BE BUILT NEAR CREMATORY.

Salt Lake City is up against it once more in the matter of a dumping ground for the city's garbage. At a meeting held yesterday morning in the office of the health commissioner, at which were present Health Commissioner Stewart, Mayor Thompson, Councilmen Carter and O'Don, Superintendent Welby of the Rio Grande Western, and Parley L. Williams of the Oregon Short Line, Mr. Welby positively declined to approve the plans of the sanitary committee in the matter of a spur track to the city sewer farm. At a meeting held Friday morning arrangements were practically consummated by which the joint track of the two roads, running north to the old stockyards, was to be utilized to haul the garbage as far as the track goes, with 1,200 feet of track to be constructed from there to the sewer farm. Details of the cost to the city were gone into and Mr. Williams gave it as his opinion that there was nothing that could sensibly interfere with the plans. Mr. Welby was not at the meeting, however, and in order that his official sanction might be obtained with as little delay as possible, a second meeting was called for yesterday morning. The scheme was outlined to Mr. Welby at this meeting, but instead of welcoming it with open arms he quietly explained to the meeting that it was impracticable and could not be entertained for a moment.

Mr. Welby's main objection was that the plans for the new stockyards will make necessary the removal of the spur in its present form altogether, as much of the land now occupied by it will form part of the site of the yards when completed. The possibility of constructing another track to the sewer farm was also discussed, but to do this it would be necessary for the tracks to cross the Rio Grande Western right-of-way at two points, and this the road is unwilling to allow.

Incinerating Plant Idea.

Several suggestions made were found to be impracticable and in the end the idea of utilizing the sewer farm as a dumping ground was given up in its entirety. At this point Simon Bamberger asked permission to enter the discussion and an executive session followed. Some of the men in it were willing to say anything as to the nature of the proposition submitted by Bamberger, but it is generally believed that this had to do with the construction of an incinerating plant near the city, which would be hauled by wagon and destroyed in a large incinerator. The little inconvenience of it is not a great one, and a conclusion was reached during the session, but another meeting will be held Tuesday, when it is expected the exact nature of the plans adopted will be made known. During the meeting much stress was laid on the necessity of prompt action, and it is likely that, once a definite plan is decided on, little time will be lost in putting it into execution.

HOOPER MAN IS KILLED

Walter Green Thrown From Horse
That Stumbled and Dies Instantly.

Walter Green, a resident of Hooper, was thrown from his horse at that place last evening and killed instantly. Green was 35 years old and leaves a wife and child. He was on his way to work at the time of the accident and it is supposed that the horse stumbled, threw Green into the road and fell on him. Dr. A. R. King, who has been called to the scene, said that the horse had broken his spinal column and dislocated four ribs. Green formerly lived at Poatello and had only been at Hooper about two weeks.

MUSICAL NOTES.

Mrs. Evalena May Drew of this city has just received from the publishers a song of hers called "A Picture." The little ballad is written for the words of the poet, Jerome Vickers, and the music has been quite highly spoken of by the publishers, the George Jager Music company of Cincinnati.

Miss Bess Primeaux, pupil of Mrs. William Wetzel, will sing the offertory solo at church services at St. Mark's cathedral today.

The solo parts of "Christ, the Victor," Dudley Buck's latest cantata, to be sung by St. Mark's choir, Easter night and the Sunday night following, have been assigned to E. E. Rowan of Los Angeles, Walter Wallace, Tom Wise, Mrs. W. F. Adams, Miss Isabel Osborne and Miss Amy Osborne.

Alfred L. Farrell, who has just opened a studio in this city, will give a recital in the First Congregational church, Tuesday, March 26.

Handsome souvenir programs for the music festival are put out by the management and are being distributed. They contain, besides the program, pictures of the leading artists who will be with the Chicago Symphony orchestra, and also pictures of the local managers and musicians. The work of the heavier numbers are also included.

DEATH OF EUGENE LEWIS.

Former Salt Lake Passes Away in New Hampshire.

News from Claremont, N. H., announces the death of Eugene Lewis there, March 15, as a result of an operation. Prior to 1902 Mr. Lewis was for several years a resident of Salt Lake. He was the local representative of the Deere Plow company of Moline, Ill., and also practiced law.

Mr. Lewis was well advanced in years at the time of his death and was one of eight in Salt Lake to vote for Palmer in 1894.

He leaves his wife, and a son, Morton, who is now attending an eastern university. Mr. Lewis left Salt Lake he had purchased the farm on which he was born, near Claremont. He died at the farm.

DUCEY'S SALOON WILL BE CLOSED

Mayor Ezra Thompson Promises That He Will Revoke License of Resort.

The outburst of public indignation in the case of Fred Dukey, the saloon keeper who was let off with a fine of $25 after pleading guilty to allowing young girls in his saloon, has had its effect in putting Dukey in such a position that he will be unable to continue his nefarious occupation of catering to young girls. Yesterday afternoon Mayor Thompson announced that on the expiration of Dukey's license tomorrow he would decline to approve of the issuance of another license to him.

Dukey's was a particularly flagrant violation of all the city ordinances intended to protect young girls from ruin. Two girls, one 15 and the other 16 years old, ran away from their homes in Park city and were found in Dukey's saloon on West Third South street. They were introduced to go there, one of the girls said, by Dukey, who furnished them with drinks free.

Mayor Investigates.

The girls were sent to the reform school at Ogden and Dukey was arrested for allowing minors in his saloon. After some delay the saloon-keeper pleaded guilty and for some reason or other Judge Diehl let him off with a fine of $25. Everyone familiar with the details of the case voiced a protest against the release of the proprietor of the resort and the matter was called to the attention of Mayor Ezra Thompson.

The mayor was furnished with the facts in the case by Chief of Police Sheets and after a conference with the chief and the city attorney decided to revoke the license of Dukey. On the expiration of the license Dukey's saloon will be permanently closed.

Another warrant for the arrest of Dukey was issued by City Prosecutor Daly on a charge of allowing women in his saloon after 7 o'clock in the evening, but in view of the mayor's action in the case this warrant will probably not be served since the penalty of revoking Dukey's license will be inflicted before the case could come to trial.

NASTY CARDS CULLED OUT

Disagreeable Task Confronts Clerks in the Salt Lake Post-office.

One of the most disagreeable tasks falling to the lot of the postoffice clerks is that of culling out obscene and unmailable postal cards which are thrust through the mail chutes daily by people whose morals are no higher than the manufacturers of such cards and the dealers who traffic in them.

At the Salt Lake postoffice there is not a day goes by but that at least a dozen of these obscene cards are culled from the mails and forwarded to Washington as "unmailable material." The postoffice clerks are constantly on the outlook for these cards, and seldom if ever does one of them get through. If the people who waste their money in purchasing these cards and mailing them were aware of this fact, they would possibly think twice before burdening the mails with them.

In no case has it been discovered that a card was signed by the sender. There is a law against the mailing of such matter, and should anybody be suspected of an indictment against him would be forthcoming.

As it is, the federal authorities feel it is up to the civil authorities of the city and state to put a stop to the traffic by the dealers.
